In accordance with our Algorithmic trading risk management policies, trading activities were paused for seven business days in December 2024. This decision was made to account for:

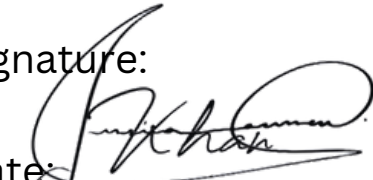

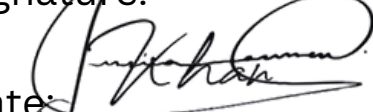

- Heightened market unpredictability during the holiday season.
- Reduced market liquidity, as institutional investors scaled back activities over the holidays.

The pause was implemented to maintain the highest standards of trading integrity and to protect client investments.

Acknowledgment and Verification

We, the undersigned, have reviewed the trading performance summary above and confirm its alignment with our audit findings. The figures provided are verified as accurate and true based on the available data and records.
